

Ethical Leadership for a Global Perspective

Issue 2

June 1, 2011

“Everyone wants to feel that he counts for something and is important to someone. Invariably, people will give their love, respect, and attention to the person who fills that need.”

John C. Maxwell, Leadership 101

Empowerment

Real leadership is being the person others will gladly and confidently follow

34th Annual SES Conference

Texas A&M University – Corpus Christi and CEPA are hosting the 34th Annual Conference of the Society of Educators and Scholars. The venue is the Holiday Inn – Emerald Beach, Corpus Christi. The date is October 13-15, 2011. The theme is Ethical Leadership for a Global Perspective.

This conference will be interdisciplinary, and will attract a national and international group of scholars and practitioners in all fields. “We genuinely believe that leadership is the necessary component in any successful endeavor, and we hope our forum will underscore this,” states TAMUCC Clinical Professor James Walter.

Focusing on a Strong, Clear Vision

The theme of the conference serves as a driving force for the doctoral students, Department of Educational Administration and Research at Texas A&M – Corpus Christi, who have taken the lead in planning and carrying out this leadership event. As these students take part in all aspects of planning the conference agenda we must also continue to redefine the leadership direction that we take and ask important questions such as: What are the experiences that are needed to nurture leadership? How do we develop responsible leadership as well as empower and mentor our future leaders? How do we encourage future leaders to project into the future and stay focused on their vision? We invite futuristic-thinking leaders in any profession to submit proposals on models for leadership with a global perspective.

Visionary Leadership

The conference embraces vision, risk and change to carry out new collaborative initiatives in a global community. Graduate students will have the opportunity to collaborate with senior professionals from universities, business and industry, as well as civic and political leaders. The students will become better informed about other visions of leadership and will have the opportunity to practice leadership.

Department of Educational Administration & Research

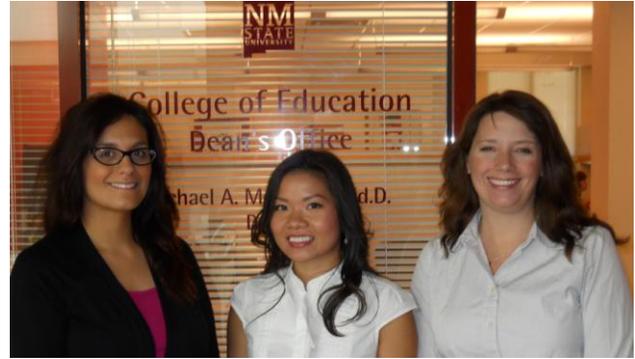

Doctoral Candidates
Educational Administration & Research

Mentoring and Investing in Young People

One of the most important principles embraced at this conference is mentoring and investing the time needed in developing new leadership. The conference is designed to mentor future leaders in conjunction with their formal academic programs. By becoming a mentor, you become someone who empowers others. You enable others to reach the highest levels in their personal and professional development. Simply defined, empowering is giving your influence to others for the purpose of personal and organizational growth. It's sharing yourself—your influence, position, power, and opportunities—with others for the purpose of investing in their lives so that they can function at their best. It's seeing someone's potential, sharing your resources with them, and showing them that you believe in them completely.

Empowerment is a very comprehensive, dynamic process that has the potential to substantially impact a organization. The act of empowering others changes lives, and it's a win-win situation for you and the people you empower. As John C. Maxwell states in his book Leadership 101, "Everyone wants to feel that he counts for something and is important to someone."

Dr. Azadeh Osanloo & Dr. Kristin Kew
Xuan Nguyen, Doctoral Candidate

Publishing Your Work

Presenters may submit their papers for consideration in any of the open-submission refereed journals of the American Educational Research Association. Visit AERA's flagship journal Educational Researcher online to learn more about it. The Journal of the Society of Educators and Scholars is another highly respected journal accepting submissions. This journal is also refereed.

Texas A&M University - Corpus Christi

Join us in this tropical environment where top-notch academics are blended into a robust lifestyle. Texas A&M-Corpus Christi is the only campus in the nation located on its own island. Click on this link for the conference information www.cepa2000.org.

Fred Rodríguez can be reached at 575-532-1081/562-308-8861 Cell
cepa2000@earthlink.net
www.cepa2000.org